TOWNSHIPS FACE RELIEF CRISIS WITHOUT FUNDS

Naber Plans Anticipation Warrants to Tide Over Lean Months

Lake county supervisors, who also act as poormasters, today are facing the problem of caring for the needy of their respective townships with funds for this purpose exhausted, and are turning to the plan of open credit with merchants, the issuing of anticipation warrants, and dependence upon the meagre amounts allotted through the IERC.

The increasing demands for relief brought about through widespread unemployment, and the absence of all public works projects in the county, was disclosed at the Tuesday meeting of the Lake county board of supervisors.

Nine Townships Get Help

Nine townships, which levied the limit of 30 cents per $100 for relief purposes and have spent it, have applied for allotments from the state sales tax fund. The other nine townships where relief cases were less numerous, failed during the last fiscal year to exhaust the local funds and are not eligible to receive the state sales tax refunds from the state. The townships not receiving such funds include Antioch, Avon, Cuba, Elmhurst, Newport, Shields, Vernon, Warren, and West Deerfield.

No relief is in sight for these townships until the next local taxes are collected starting in April. While some supervisors will ask for credit with merchants to take care of relief cases until April, Supervisor Barney Naber prefers to issue anticipation warrants and thus keep the relief situation on a cash basis.

Antioch Not in the "Red" "To date the township does not owe a dime for relief work," Naber told the News today. "By issuing warrants merchants will be able to get cash and the relief families will be cared for just the same as if the township had created numerous small debts, thus causing local merchants the inconvenience of handling the time accounts."

Antioch township has about 40 families on relief, and the amount required for the next three months will depend largely on the number of hospital cases, Naber said.

Waukegan township, which leads in relief cases has over 1,100 families on relief and the cost to the township is estimated at nearly $31,000 for the month of January. It is understood that township will receive about half the amount from the IERC.

Want Local Administration

The supervisors at their meeting Tuesday adopted a resolution demanding that the legislature abolish the IERC and that sales tax funds be allotted to the county in proportion to the number of poor relief cases.

Resolution

WHEREAS, The Illinois Emergency Relief commission was organized to meet a relief emergency, and WHEREAS, It has been demonstrated that relief necessities can be more efficiently and economically administered by local authorities, who are in close touch with local needs and conditions, and

WHEREAS, It is our firm conviction that the entire relief situation can be greatly improved by local administration (continued on page 8)

World Traveler Will Address Men's Civic Club Monday Night

Charles Mackay, world traveler, of Chicago, will address the Men's Civic Club of Antioch Monday night at the Golden Hotel at 7 o'clock at the regular January meeting of the club.

Mackay, who represents a large publishing house in Chicago, spent three months last summer in Germany and Italy. He will discuss conditions existing in these countries.

BLACK CROWS TO GET "THE WORKS"

A dynamite bomb warfare on crows has just been opened by the State Department of Conservation. It will be kept up until nesting time. Naturalists look on the crow as Nature's greatest enemy of ducks, quail, and other game and song birds. Each pair of crows killed means the saving of half a dozen quail nests on the uplands, or from two to 12 duck nests in the marshes where waterfowl breed.

State Highway Police Enforcing New Law

Illinois State Highway police are now enforcing the traffic laws requiring signals from all vehicles turning, slowing down or stopping. Trucks from which hand signals cannot be seen at the rear must have mechanical signal equipment.

Approved hand signals include: Left turn—hand and arm extended horizontally.

Right turn—hand and arm extended upward or moved with a sweeping motion from the rear to the front.

Stop or decrease of speed—hand and arm extended downward.

NELSON ENTERS RACE FOR PROBATE CLERK

County Treasurer to Oppose Present Clerk for GOP Nomination

Allen J. Nelson, present county treasurer, will be a candidate for the office of probate clerk in the primary on April 12, opposing John R. Bullock, present holder of the office, for the Republican nomination. Both candidates were circulating their petitions this week.

Friends of Treasurer Nelson point to the fact that he has made a very enviable record as custodian of county funds, and that he is largely responsible for the present status of the county finances which are regarded as being in better condition than at any time during the past thirty years. In a recent interview Nelson disclosed that the county did not borrow any money on anticipation warrants against the 1936 tax levy and would not have to borrow against the 1937 and 1938 levies. The earnings of the treasurer's office during Mr. Nelson's term have defrayed almost one-half of the county's general expenses.

Nelson Best Vote-Getter in '34

In the general election in 1934, Nelson was the only candidate who carried every township in the county, and he had a plurality in more precincts than any other candidate. Since his election he has made more friends throughout the county and he is considered as a strong contender for the office he now seeks.

Under existing laws a county treasurer can not serve two consecutive terms. For that reason Mr. Nelson seeks to move upstairs and across the hall to the probate clerk's office. Both Nelson and Bullock are running on their records in public office.

The probate clerk job pays a salary of $4,000 annually, the same as the county treasurer's pay.

URGE CONG. CHURCH TO RUN FOR SENATE

While friends of Representative Ralph Church are circulating petitions of the Evanston man for nomination as the Republican candidate for the United States senate, Church himself is having placed in circulation his own petitions for re-nomination for representation from the 10th district.

The petitions, which if successful, would place Representative Church in the upper house in Washington, were sent out by H. L. Williamson, president of the Illinois Press Association. Because he has missed no session of congress in the last four years, and because he has refused to be a rubber stamp man for the New Deal, and has never traded his vote for political preferment as related to patronage, many leading Republicans believe Rep. Church would make splendid senatorial timber.

The Antioch News has not been informed as to whether Cong. Church will run for the senate.

Federal Men Raid Huge Still in Kenosha

One of the largest and most complete stills ever uncovered in Wisconsin was found in the city of Kenosha Tuesday afternoon by federal agents from Chicago and Milwaukee augmented by Kenosha police officers.

They found the $15,000 plant in the basement of an unoccupied building, formerly a tavern, at the corner of Fifth and Thirtieth avenues, with Albert Dattilo, 38, of 5113 Twenty-second avenue, in charge and operating the plant. The federal agents arrested Dattilo who gave up without resistance. He was taken to Milwaukee early today to be arraigned before the United States Commissioner.

The government men emptied over 11,000 gallons of mash found in Dattilo's huge establishment.

STATE OFFICIAL INSPECTS ANTIOCH AGRICULTURAL DEPT.

Asst. Supervisor Seeks Reasons for Success of Local Projects

B. A. Tomlin, assistant supervisor of the Illinois Department of Vocational Agriculture from Springfield spent the day last Wednesday visiting the vocational agriculture department of the local high school.

A short project inspection trip to the boys' homes was also made.

The visit was made principally to make the regular routine inspection, but a special study was made of the local projects, in view of the fact that the Antioch Future Farmers have an enviable record throughout the state, and the department at Springfield wished to know the nature of these projects and the reasons of their success. Several minor suggestions were made for the improvement of the local department, one of which was to have a more accessible bulletin filing system, which the school will put into operation for the young farmers. Mr. Tomlin also indicated where a large scrap book containing newspaper clippings and photographs of the local chapter's activities would prove advantageous.

Maier To Show New Hudson Next Week

Al B. Maier and son, Fred, returned from Chicago this afternoon after attending the presentation of the New Hudson "112" sedan at the Drake hotel. Maier is enthused over the new model, a new car in the low price field, declaring it has many features of fine cars while remaining strictly an economy car as to low original cost and operation.

The new "112" sedan will be on display at Maier garage in Lake Villa next week.

Ice Brings Injuries To Antioch Residents

Among Antioch residents injured during the week were Otto S. Klass, H. A. Radtke, O. E. Hachmeister, and Billy Brook.

Mr. Klass suffered a severely sprained wrist when he fell on the ice at his store a week ago. Mr. Radtke injured his arm in a fall on the icy walk Sunday morning.

Severe injury befell Oscar Hachmeister last night when he fell in front of his store. Besides injuring his spine he was knocked unconscious when his head hit the pavement. Friends carried him to his home and called Dr. D. N. Deering. He was reported to be somewhat improved today.

Five stitches were required to close a cut in Billy Brook's head following a collision of his car with a truck near Half Day last night. The Brook car was almost demolished and the driver's escape is considered only a little short of miraculous. Bill was not injured aside from the cut on his head and he is up and at work as usual today.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Smith Are Honored on Silver Wedding Anniversary

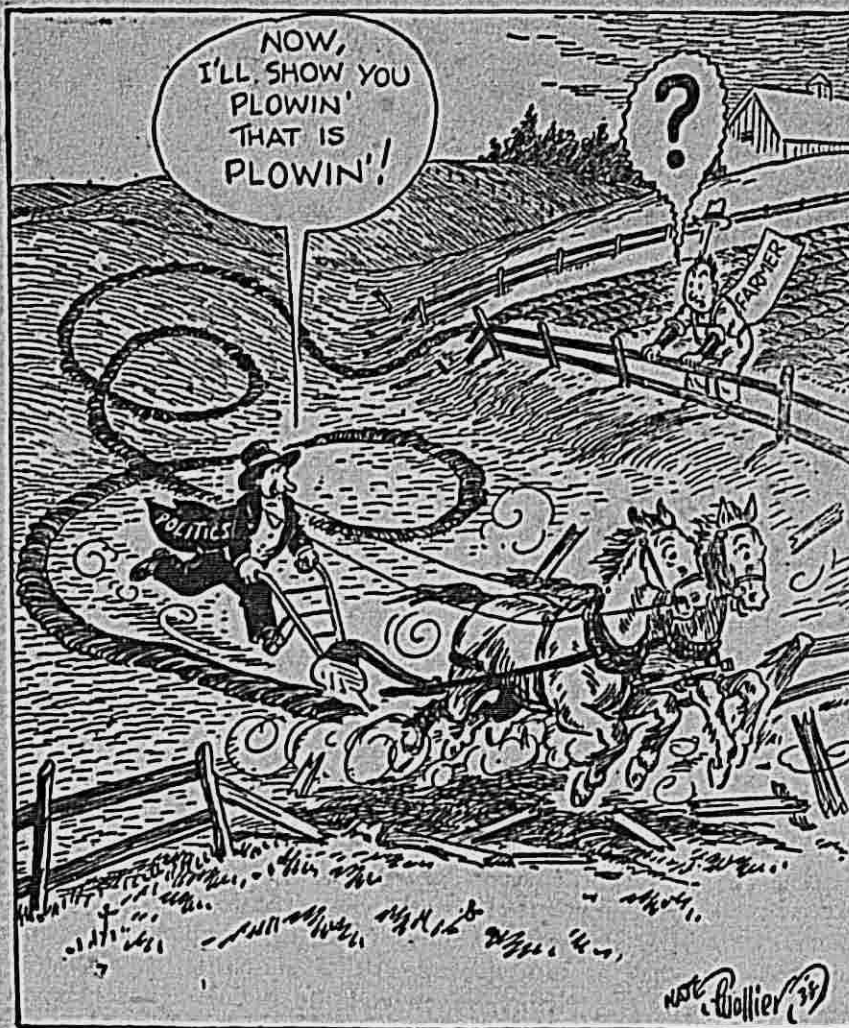

A throng of 225 friends gathered at Stewart's Athletic Club, at 2338 Roosevelt Road, Chicago, Saturday night to honor Mr. and Mrs. Ted Smith of Channel Lake on the occasion of their silver wedding anniversary.

The Smiths, former residents of Chicago before coming to Channel Lake 12 years ago, conducted a grocery and market at 2065 Roosevelt Road, which was within three blocks of the scene of the celebration Saturday night. It was in the same neighborhood that the couple were married 25 years ago Saturday, the ceremony having been performed at St. Charles church just across the street from their home.

Dancing was followed by bounteous refreshments and the mock marriage performed at midnight by William Regan, former Antioch justice. Others from this community who attended were Mr. and Mrs. William A. Rosing, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Lightsey, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nevitt, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Brook, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Holtz, T. M. Palaske, Mrs. Bell and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Lennon of Fox Lake.

Arden Van Patten spent Tuesday in Chicago.

THE NEW HIRED HAND

County T.B. Group Plans Early Diagnosis Campaign

Miss Orpha White of the Lake County Tuberculosis Association reports that county tuberculosis associations throughout the State are pausing in their Christmas Seal sale activities to formulate plans for this year's Early Diagnosis Campaign.

The 11th annual campaign for the early diagnosis of tuberculosis will open officially on April first. Despite the fact that it is three months away, posters and pamphlets to be used are already being ordered by the Lake County Tuberculosis Association.

The slogan of this year's campaign is, "Tuberculosis Undiscovered Endangers You." By "you" is meant the individual, the family and the community. This nation-wide campaign, while especially emphasized during April, is used in Illinois the year around. It is emphasized that early discovery of tuberculosis insures early recovery from the disease.

The Illinois Tuberculosis Association, in describing the campaign material, says: "If tuberculosis is undiscovered in an individual, he or she is in danger. Chest X-rays will find it."

"If tuberculosis is undiscovered in the family, the growing children are in great danger. The tuberculin skin test, X-ray and family follow-up will help to remedy this condition."

"If tuberculosis is left undiscovered in the community, everybody is in danger. Systematic search for tuberculosis by examination of contacts, tuberculin testing and X-ray surveys of students and teachers, and programs to advise the community of the seriousness of the disease will lessen the danger."

Wagner Attends State Feed Dealers Meeting

George Wagner, Jr., manager of the Antioch Milling Co., was in Decatur Monday attending the 22nd annual convention of Purina feed dealers held at the Decatur Club. More than 250 Illinois dealers were in attendance.

At the meeting, Wagner reports, the fine spread existing today between farm product and grain and commercial supplement prices was presented by Purina Mills' marketing experts. Particularly encouraging was the spread shown for the dairyman. Wholesale milk prices are almost double today what they were in 1933. The prospects for hog raisers, cattle feeders, and poultry owners were shown to be the best for several years because of today's lower grain and commercial supplement prices.

The new feeding advisory service offered by Purina Mills was presented by secretary of that firm, E. G. Cheronnier. Through this service, feed dealers are furnished formulas which enable them to render a greater service to the farmers of their communities raising grain.

County Board Approves New Contract for Gallahue

Dr. T. P. Gallahue, county veterinarian, whose present term expires Feb. 1, was engaged for a two-year term by the board of supervisors at the January meeting. His new contract will expire Jan. 31, 1940. Gallahue will receive an annual salary of $3,100 and $300 for traveling expenses.

FARM AND HOME WEEK IN SESSION AT UNIVERSITY

The forty-first annual Farm and Home week, sponsored by the College of Agriculture at the University of Illinois opened Monday, January 10, with approximately 300 courses and sessions open to farmers and homemakers during the five days, January 10-14.

Subject matter sessions touched a wide variety of topics pertaining to the farm and home with speakers selected primarily from the members of the University staff.

H. W. Mumford, Dean of the College of Agriculture, is presiding at the general session this afternoon with Edward A. O'Neal, President of the American Farm Bureau Federation, as the principal speaker.

J. H. Lloyd, Director of the State Department of Agriculture, [was among the other farm leaders attending Farm and Home Week.]

Mrs. George Vose is the delegate representing the Hickory Unit of the Lake County Home Bureau.

INSTALL FLOODLIGHTS AT SCHOOL ICE RINK

Public Is Asked to Observe a Few Rules While Skating

The High School ice pond is in excellent condition and is open to the community for general skating. Flood lights have been installed and the school officials have announced that the lights will be on for evening skating from 6:30 to 9:00 o'clock. Hockey Goals will be installed for after school and Saturday play. There are a few rules which the school wishes the public to observe while skating:

1. No hockey or other rough games during evening skating.
2. Keep cars off the pond.
3. Keep off of snow bank around the pond.
4. No bon-fires.
5. Keep off pond when lights are not on because this indicates that the ice has been flooded.
6. The School is not responsible for accidents on pond or school grounds.

Local Future Farmers Win in Tri-School Contest

In the Pest Eradication contest concluded last week, the local Future Farmers won with an average of 578 points per member. Gurnee had an average of 324 points and Lake Zurich 158 points per member.

A total of 5,599 sparrows; 1365 mice; 275 rats; 227 starlings and 47 crows were destroyed during the contest by the three schools.

The Antioch Future Farmers are to be treated to a party given in their honor by the other two schools sometime in the near future.

Evelyn Van Patten of Chicago spent New Year's with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Van Patten.

COUNTY BOARD VOTES ZONING PLAN, 27 TO 3

Supervisors Limit Cost of Administration to $3,000 a Year

By a vote of 27 to 3 the Lake county board of supervisors in session Tuesday gave the zoning commission authority to revise and continue preparations for a county zoning ordinance, but the resolution limits the expense of the administration of zoning for the fiscal year ending December 4, 1938, to $3,000 to be drawn from the county's miscellaneous and contingent fund. The commission is to have the co-operation of an engineer from the county highway department in compiling data and preparing the necessary maps. It is understood that part of this material is already in the hands of the highway engineer, having been prepared in connection with highway work in the county in the past.

The vote was taken upon the recommendation of the finance committee which recommended that the board adopt the county zoning plan. Set $3,000 Limit

"After thoroughly considering all plans advanced for the continuance of zoning Lake county, with the limited funds available," the finance committee recommended, "it has been decided that the zoning commission continue with the work of zoning Lake county with the authority of the board of supervisors. It is to incur expenses in the amount not to exceed $3,000 for the present fiscal year ending Dec. 4, 1938, with such additional engineering help as said board of supervisors may authorize R. M. Lobdell, county superintendent of highways, to furnish."

The favorable vote by the board means that the "interim" zoning ordinance that was put into effect last fall by the supervisors is still alive and will now continue to be effective until the permanent ordinance is accepted by the board. Since no appropriation was made for the administration of the ordinance for this fiscal year, the finance committee recommended that the necessary funds, not to exceed $3,000, be taken from the miscellaneous and contingent fund.

The three supervisors voting against the measure were John K. Cribb of Lake Villa, B. F. L. ber of Antioch, and Harry W. White of Elmhurst.

Kingery Explains Costs Supervisor Naber, as quoted in the Antioch News last week, opposed the measure because of its probable cost to the county, declaring that the administration of a similar ordinance in DuPage county had cost more than $60,000 in five years. In this connection Robert Kingery, general manager of the Chicago Regional Planning Association, is quoted as declaring that the "actual out of treasury money paid in DuPage county was between $750 and $800."

Quoting Kingery, the Waukegan News-Sun says:

Naber's assumption apparently disputes figures given by Robert Kingery, general manager of the Chicago Regional Planning association, which indicate the actual "out of treasury" money paid in DuPage county was between $750 and $800.

"The first year of administration," Kingery said regarding DuPage county's zoning ordinance, "was a little under $2,000. The cost of the second year of administration (in 1937) during which many new maps were drawn, has been closely estimated at $3,100."

Naber apparently referred to the "cost of an excellent set of large scale maps for the entire area of DuPage county," which were developed in the five years previous to adoption of zoning. They were made for the county assessor and board of review, it was learned.

"Such a detailed atlas," Kingery explained, "is not needed for a satisfactory development of a zoning ordinance, but, of course, it is a valuable asset."

The Proposed TVA Investigation

It has been proposed that Congress investigate the Tennessee Valley Authority. A number of leading senators of both parties, are supporting the proposal.

For a long time, there have been rumors of irregularities in the operation of the Authority, starting with the sensational disclosures of ex-Comptroller McCarr concerning waste and inefficiency. It has been said by men in a position to know that TVA's system of bookkeeping makes it next to impossible to judge, from the bare records, precisely how much money is spent in many instances.

If it is true that there has been an excessive amount of preventable waste in the operation of the Authority, the public, which pays the bills, is entitled to know about it. If it is not true, the rumors should be dissipated in the interest of fairness to the Authority's directors and employees.

Under any circumstances, it will be interesting to see how the senators vote if and when a resolution for investigating the TVA is offered. Congress has always been more than willing to investigate and condemn the private utility industry, and often on the flimsiest pretexts. It has done this, according to spokesmen, in the public interest. Will it be as zealous of the public interest when it comes to disclosing the truth and the whole truth about its own creature, the TVA?

The Taxes Without a Friend

The regular session of Congress faces precisely the same problem that confronted the special session when it met November 15. That problem is, How can the business recession be stopped?

The special session reached a new high in non-achievement. There was a great deal of talk concerning ways and means to reassure business—and almost no action. If a similar stalemate is reached in the present session, the outlook for the future of the country will be serious indeed.

The greatest need of the time is actual cooperation by government with industry, which is the sole source of productive employment, investment, spending power and taxation. The first step Congress should take, if it is honestly interested in real national recovery, is to revise those two "taxes without a friend" which have done so much to kill business and investment—the undistributed profits tax and the capital gains tax.

Neither of these taxes is an important revenue producer. They actually tend to reduce tax revenues, because of their depressive effect on industrial activity. There is a remarkable unanimity of opinion among informed persons as to their dangers. Business men, large and small, are solidly opposed to them. Outstanding economists can find nothing to say in their favor. The nation's principal newspapers, of all political affiliations, are requesting that they be drastically changed. And a large number of public officials, of both parties, have gone on record in favor of revision or outright repeal.

To encourage a revival of business activity that will block the growing "recession," assuage the fears of industry and investors as to political and tax persecution.

Good Advice to Congress

A dozen leading economists recently presented to the special session of Congress a four-point formula for ending the slump in business activity.

The gist of it was, according to an Associated Press report, "Do something to encourage business." The four points included: Abolishment of the tax on undistributed profits; revision or abolishment of the tax on capital gains; ending of government competition with business; the bolstering of confidence by definitely indicating an intention to balance the budget as soon as possible and practical.

Among the economists were such recognized authorities as David Friday, Professor Irving Fisher, Colonel Leonard Ayres, B. M. Anderson, and Paul Douglas.

In addition, members of the group advocated co-operation between labor and business on wages, prices, and employment, and a properly conducted housing drive. All agreed with the statement of Mr. Friday when he said: "There is need of some definite, dramatic action to show that government promises of helping business are more than just a lot of talk."

Congress has been holding open season on business. Industry has been sniped at from all quarters.

It has been reviled, denounced and saddled with an unprecedented weight of punitive laws. The inevitable results are seen today: Worried investors, discouraged managements, retrenchment of capital—all culminating in a major business recession. Continuance of this trend must inevitably turn the recession into a depression.

The four actions the economists list would go a long way toward bringing back lost confidence. They would instantly encourage the spending of money, the building of plants, the expansion of inventories, and the employment of men and women. Congress never got better advice.

What's Ahead?

Records of the United States Patent Office in Washington reveal that the number of patents issued yearly is steadily increasing. This has been particularly true in recent years as new industrial research laboratories have been developed and the search for new living conveniences has been stimulated.

The question brought to mind is: what social effects will come from inventions in future years, considering the changes resulting from past industrial inventions, such as the telephone, the automobile, the airplane, the motion picture, rayon and the radio? Those six major industries were developed during the first third of the current century.

Scientists say we have just begun to "scratch the surface" in the matter of new industrial fields. Imagine, then, the future standards of living as they will be enhanced by another half-dozen new industries and the thousands of new jobs that will be created—within the very near future!

Simple Facts

"Taxes, when thought out in things and results, mean an abstraction of a part of the annual product for government purposes, and cannot mean anything else. Whatever form they take in their imposition they must be borne by the consumer, that is, mainly by the working-men and fighting-men of the community. It is well that they should have this fact brought home to them, and not too much disguised by the form in which the taxes are imposed."

Thus wrote the late and great liberal Supreme Court Justice, Oliver Wendell Holmes. In these days when there is so much concern about rising prices and talk about monopolies and profits and whatnot, it is well to remember the economic fact which he so simply stated.

For about seven years now, the federal government has been borrowing money. The only way it can raise money to pay back what it borrowed is through taxes. And as Justice Holmes said, it makes no difference whether your tax is levied in disguised form, it still must be paid by the consumer.

If the tax is levied directly, it becomes a direct payment to the government. If it is levied indirectly, it becomes part of the price of what the consumer buys. No matter how you state it; no matter how many ifs, ands and buts you add; no matter how you storm and rant about it, the facts are still the same—government debts are paid by taxes, and taxes are paid by the sweat of every man's brow.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Sacrament" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, January 9.

The Golden Text was, "The cup of blessing which we bless, is it not the communion of the blood of Christ? The bread which we break, is it not the communion of the body of Christ?" (1 Cor. 10:16).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Where-withal shall a young man cleanse his way? By taking heed thereto according to thy word. With my whole heart have I sought thee: O let me not wander from thy commandments. Thy righteousness is an ever-lasting righteousness, and thy law is the truth. Great peace have they which love thy law: and nothing shall offend them" (Psalms 119:9, 10, 142, 165).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "We know that a desire for holiness is requisite in order to gain holiness; but if we desire holiness above all else, we shall sacrifice everything for it" (p. 11).

It was very encouraging to see the number of people who braved the storm last Sunday in order to attend the morning worship at which the pastor spoke on, "Religion Without Pay." When one is religious for what he can get out of it the results are disappointment, shaken faith, and much adverse criticism. Religion should claim us because it represents that which is immeasurably better than we, and because it makes men want what they ought to want.

A party of six attended the school of religion at Grayslake last Wednesday evening which is being conducted during January and February by the Lakes Region Ministerial Association. The meeting next week will be in Antioch Methodist Church.

Sunday evening, January 23, we will have a special service of worship dedicated to the Masonic Fraternity. Sequoit Lodge is sponsoring a potluck supper in the basement at the close of the service. Renowned Court Painter

Fragonard (1732-1806), the renowned court painter to Louis XV, was kept busy painting voluptuous scenes of love and seduction. Madame du Barry set the fashion for the whole pleasure-loving court by decorating her boudoir with his paintings. He began his career as a law clerk, but his genius for art brought him to the studio of Francois Boucher in Paris. He surpassed his master. When the people of France rose against the profligate monarchy, they included the court painter Fragonard, and he was forced to return to Grasse, his home. There he turned to simpler subject matter. He was poor and forgotten when he died in Paris in 1806.

Obituary

Ellen L. Tillotson

Ellen L. Simmons was born March 24, 1861, at Sylvania, Racine county, Wisconsin. At an early age she moved with her parents to the vicinity of Bristol.

On January 22, 1879 she was married to George E. Tillotson, who preceded her in death in Feb. 1935. She spent the first 14 years of her married life at Greenleaf, Kansas, and she and her husband returning then and settling on the Tillotson homestead at Pikeville.

During the past two years she has made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Georgia Scoville in Kenosha where she passed away early Sunday morning, Jan. 2, after an illness of 10 weeks.

She is survived by five children: Harrie A. Tillotson, Antioch; Mrs. Scoville, Miss Grace Tillotson; Mrs. Greta Bishop and Mrs. Ada King, of Wadsworth, Ill.; and by 11 grandchildren and one great granddaughter.

Funeral services were held at Strang's funeral home in Antioch Tuesday afternoon the 1:30 o'clock and burial was in the Hosmer cemetery.

Grant Students Busy With School Activities

by Raul George

Fox Lake, Ill. — Antioch high school's Sequoits, a potent basketball team resembling Purdue's devastating cagers in power, rode on the crest of a two man tidal wave here Friday evening to accomplish with consummate ease an impressive 28-20 win over Grant's Bulldogs.

Antioch's biggest siege guns—Doolittle and Effinger—found their range with deadly accuracy to topple Grant from the list of select teams in the Northwest conference. Doolittle sky-rocketed through the Bulldog defense for fifteen points, while his high-scoring mate, Jack Effinger, settled for eight.

After the smoke of battle cleared away, however, Grant salvaged an important item from the wreckage. Coach Walt Rasinske's Red and White second team whipped the Antioch aggregation, 17-16.

After five hectic cage tilts Jim Mielke continues to pace the Grant squad in scoring. Jim has accounted for nineteen field goals and seven gratis shots for a total of 45 points. Gene Koch tops the second stringers with 34 points, this sum centering around fifteen shots from the court and four free throws.

It has been authoritatively rumored that John Schuerr, Grant student, illegally extended his Christmas vacation to pursue rabbits in the Hoosier state.

Phil Dufault, Grant's all Lake county fullback for 1937, made his 1937-1938 basketball debut against Antioch. The pile-driving football captain has been convalescing from a broken leg sustained in the season's gridiron finale against Lake Forest.

Students Have "Pen Pals"

Edna White, junior class student, has entered into correspondence with a Miss Sini Dreteler of Tubbergen, Holland.

Miss Ruth Anselm of the high school faculty has instituted a "pen pal" system among the students desirous of engaging in such an activity.

This week Edna received a very gracious and friendly message from her unknown letter writer across the wide Atlantic. I quote in part from Miss Dreteler's letter: "I am also corresponding with Miss Arlene Finster. Do you know that girl? She lives also in America. . . ."

It is slightly amusing when we consider Miss Dreteler's interrogation. We should readily inform the Holland miss that there are only 120,000,000 inhabitants in these United States. No, Miss Dreteler, we are very sorry.

Shower for Mrs. Inwood

A shower was held Monday afternoon for Mrs. Esther Inwood, Grant faculty member, by the girls of the Fox Lake institution. The home economics teacher was Miss Lusk when the students were dismissed for the Christmas furlough, but the bonds of marriage enveloped her before the turn of 1938.

Boxing mentor Louis A. Orr has announced that Grant's boxing squad will perform in the North Chicago, Ill., Veterans' home on February 1.

Frank Sorrentino has joined the debate squad which already consists of Jane George, Kathleen Pearson, Dorothy Ellison, and yours truly. Coach John C. Christ promises to mold one of the school's greatest debate organizations out of his aspirants.

Do you know that the word "scan" means a very close and critical observation of an object instead of hurried examination, as is commonly believed?

The publication of that annual is sponsored by the Commercial club and staff members of the Trumpeter. The issue will appear in early spring.

The Allendale farm at Lake Villa is sending representatives to the Chicago Tribune's Silver Skates Derby to be held this week-end at Garfield park. Clifford Wallace, 16 year old flash, will lead the local aggregation against Illinois' most competent skaters at the Derby.

Pioneers Good Marksmen

Marksmanship was almost an institution among the pioneers, says a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer. With their long, heavy rifles they could drop an animal on the run at 150 yards by shooting the animal in the head or heart, and they very seldom missed. It was poor marksmanship to shoot an animal in any other spot. Even the twelve-year-old boys could do almost as well. And many of them, for fear of losing their reputation as marksmen, would not bring home a rabbit or squirrel which had been hit in any other part of the body except the head. Unless of course the family was in great need of the food and there was no other game available at the time.

UPWARD TREND IN FARM LIVE STOCK

Not Until 1940 or 1941 Will Average Be Reached.

By R. C. Ashby, Chief in Live Stock Market, University of Illinois.—WNU Service.

Not until 1940 or 1941 will live stock numbers be back to average, based on the outlook for meat animals, according to the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics. The trend in all live stock numbers is expected to be upward during the next few years, with the larger production of feed in 1937 expected to result in an expansion in hog production and in cattle feeding in 1938.

If feed crop production in the next three or four years is equal to average, supplies of feed will be large in relation to number of live stock, and live stock prices will be high in relation to feed prices. Such a situation would be the reverse of that which has existed in most of the past four years.

Total supplies of meats, excluding poultry, are expected to be larger in 1938, but will continue to be less than average. The increase in total supplies of meats will likely come in the last half of the year and will be largely in pork and the better grades of beef.

It appears now that consumer demand for meats in 1938 probably will be somewhat less favorable than in 1937, the weaker demand and larger supplies probably tending toward a lower level of meat and live stock prices.

Because of the drought of 1934 and 1936, the volume of pork produced in the past three years has been much below average. As a result the total production of meats in this period has been much below average. Production of beef and veal has been somewhat larger than average since 1933. If feed-crop production continues near the 1937 level during the next few years, the trend in pork production will be upward, but such production probably will not reach a level equal to the 1925-29 average before 1941.

Young Turkeys Do Very Well in Breeding Flock

Turkey growers, who will make a business of producing turkey hatching eggs this winter, may wonder whether to use breeding stock selected from the fall crop of turkeys or whether older turkeys will make the best breeders.

Stanley J. Marsden, turkey expert in the United States Department of Agriculture, says research indicates that well-matured young hens and toms are fully as satisfactory for breeders as are older turkeys. In fact, the eggs from young turkeys are likely to be more fertile and are likely to hatch better. Furthermore, young hens will lay more eggs.

Of course, if a turkey grower has kept records of the number of eggs each of his older turkeys laid during their first year, those egg records may show that many of the older turkeys are likely to make better breeders than are the untried young turkeys. But the mere fact that one turkey is older than another is no guarantee that it will make a better breeder.

First Aid Kit for Farm

A first-aid kit for the farm home should contain a book on first aid to the injured; a small drinking glass; two gauze bandages, two inches by ten yards; two gauze bandages, one inch by ten yards; one all-cotton elastic bandage, two inches by standard; one package of absorbent cotton; one box of band-aid; one roll of adhesive plaster, two inches by ten yards; one package of sterilized gauze of five yards; one triangular bandage; six sterilized gauze pads; one tourniquet made of a handkerchief or wide muslin; safety pins; small scissors; tongue depressors; bar of soap; ammonia; camphor; and some emergency disinfectant, such as iodine or mercurchrome.—Wallace Farmer.

Keep Some Yearling Hens

A flock of properly selected yearling hens is more valuable for breeding purposes than an equally good flock of pullets, according to C. E. Rohde, of the Missouri experiment station. This is true because yearling hens retained for this purpose have demonstrated their worth as profitable birds. With the most careful selection, this will not be true of as high a percentage of pullets selected for general breeding purposes.

Drilled Well Best

From a sanitary standpoint drilled and driven wells rank first with bored and dug wells following in that order. While there is some possibility of underground pollution, the chief danger is from matter entering the well from the top. For this reason the smaller and tighter the top of the well the less danger of the entrance of foreign material. All wells should have tight platforms, preferably of concrete, so constructed that drainage is away from the pump.

Woman Routs Rattler With Boiling Water

Healdsburg, Calif.—Mrs. E. L. Shriver had read of the manner in which the population of Geneva, Switzerland, repulsed the dukes of Savoy and thereby acquired a Fourth of July of their own.

As a consequence, when a 17-rattler snake refused to get off her back porch, she heated up the tea kettle, poured the contents on it and it departed for parts unknown.

GET THEIR SEVENTH BANDIT IN 7 YEARS

Aged Brothers Know How to Deal With Robbers.

Somers, Wis.—The cracker barrel is full, there's a cheery fire in the big stove and business goes on as usual today in the Bullamore Brothers general store while its aging proprietors protest there was nothing unusual about the way they trapped their seventh burglar in seven years and killed him.

Somers is a crossroads village, ten miles from the big city police protection. The lights go out at 9 o'clock and everybody goes to bed. For years the Bullamore brothers, James, seventy-five years old, and Albert, seventy, suffered the depredations of transients who slipped out of box cars at night and raided their store.

Then they rigged up rows of wires across windows and doors, connected with electric alarms in their adjoining homes. Outside the store they installed switches with which they could flood the store with light without stepping into it. At their bedsides they stacked their guns, loaded.

James, being the elder brother, reserved the privilege of taking first action against intruders. But when James pulled on his pants and started for the door with his shotgun Albert was doing the same thing.

Seven years ago they trapped two burglars that way and had to shoot only one of them. Since then there have been four others, without shooting.

One night recently the alarms buzzed again—quietly, so the Bullamores could hear them, but not the burglar.

James leaped from bed, jerked on his trousers, shoes and coat, grabbed his gun and dashed from his house. Albert did the same. "You go out in front," James ordered. Then he turned the switch that lighted the store.

Inside, a startled burglar dropped a bag filled with ham, cheese, crackers and cigarettes. He picked up a bundle containing a suit, underwear and socks, and raced for the rear door.

From a clump of bushes James called for him to stop. The burglar put on another burst of speed. James fired one barrel of his double-barreled shotgun and the burglar fell—dead.

"If I hadn't got him with the first barrel I'd have got him with the second," James said.

Gets Best Man All Right, but It's Wrong Husband

London.—Rev. J. H. Lyons performed his first marriage recently in Killeter, Northern Ireland, and by mistake wedded the best man to the bride. But it was not his fault. It was the fault of the best man who stepped out of position and responded for the silent bridegroom.

Rebecca Cunningham, the bride, and Christopher Craig, the bridegroom, were unknown to the ministers. The bride arrived at the Presbyterian church with Albert Muldoon, the best man. The church sexton was pressed into service as bridesmaid. While awaiting the ministers, the party got mixed up, the best man taking the place of the groom. He made all the responses until the time came for the words "I will." The bride said it for him.

Not until the party went to the vestry to sign the register was the mistake learned. The ministers decided the ceremony could be performed over.

Only the difference in names prevented the best man from being legally married to the bride.

Tail Makes Fly-Swatter So Hartebeests Die Out

Cairo.—Among natives of Africa, the tail of the hartebeest is in such general use as a fly-swatter, and so many of the animals have been slaughtered to aid the war on flies, that the species is in danger of extinction, according to F. A. Smith of the American Express company. Hartebeest hunters get up to about 25 cents apiece for the tails.

City Hall Steps Sealed Until a Cat Complains

St. Louis.—Three days after workmen had completed sealing up the base of the city hall steps, passersby were attracted by weird cries coming from the steps.

Firemen chiseled through the concrete, found a half-starved cat that had wandered under the steps while they were being repaired and apparently had gone to sleep.

A saucer of milk restored the cat to purring normality.

Out Where the Winter Fun Begins

LEGIONNAIRE

The following true statements are here repeated with the idea in mind that those who are clamoring for us to jump on the Japs will get a picture of what war really is.

The "Trench of Bayonets" at Verdun is famed. There, one ghastly night a German shell-burst rent the sky and earth burying an entire French company in its trench with only the tips of fixed bayonets showing above the freshly made grave.

Just to show you how silly it is to go to war, consider this: On Christmas day, 1914, on the Somme front homesick British soldiers and sentimental Germans threw down their rifles and met on the strip of frozen mud between the trenches to laugh and sing carols, exchange souvenirs, cigarettes, pints of stout for liters of beer—and then the next day shoot to kill one another.

Local aid with Legionnaires supervising youngsters is the answer to 99 per cent of child problems in Lake county. Our child welfare department will be more than happy to cooperate with county judges in taking care of dependent and delinquent children.

This month the greatest child welfare conference held east of the Rocky mountains will be held in the Sherman hotel in Chicago with 13 states to be represented there. Child welfare has become the major problem of the Legion. With the passing of the years the ranks of the Legion become thinner and thinner—182 Legionnaires die every day.

Our annual Washington Day dinner will be held on February 19.

Tickets are on sale at Phillips' store, Webb's Racket Store, Klass' store. This will be a dinner dance and 50 cents per person includes everything. We can accommodate only so many, so get your tickets for yourself and friends as early as possible. Reservations can be made with Dr. Zimmerman.

The Past Commanders Club, an organization composed of past commanders, will have a duck dinner on January 19 at the Little Bohemian restaurant in Chicago. All past commanders are invited. The annual dues are one dollar a year.

Naturalization is the great demand. The number of aliens is at present increasing for three reasons: 1—Many aliens have become citizens of the U. S. because of war talk in their native countries. 2—U. S. quotas on immigration discourage the indigent fortune seeker and hold out hope of admittance only to those who have legitimate reasons for wanting to enter the country. 3—Various countries have restricted immigration from their borders for nationalistic reasons. Italy was allowed for the year 1937, 5802 but only 2509 came in. There are 23,534 Italians living in the United States who have become citizens. The total number of aliens in the country number about 4,300,000. In 1920 there were only 3,000,000.

Hines hospital has 1750 beds. On January 7th there were 1772 patients. Beds are set up in corridors. That is why only emergency cases can be taken at present.

Tested Pie Recipes

Pie baking is an American art that can be equalled by no other country. Of long standing in this country, pie retains a place on the menus of good meals that has never been approached by any other dessert. Culinary experts and gourmets—all agree that pie holds the limelight as a national dessert favorite. Thus, pie baking has become one of the prime requisites of the good cook and homemaker.

Here are some pie recipes that will bring you praise from guests and family.

Marvel Lemon Pie

Ingredients: 1 package lemon-flavored gelatine, grated rind and juice of two lemons, 2 egg yolks, ¾ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt 1½ cups boiling water, 1 baked 9-inch pie shell.

Combine gelatine, sugar, salt and lemon rind with 3 tablespoons water. Add egg yolks and stir well. Add remaining water stirring until gelatine is dissolved. Cool. Add lemon juice. Chill until firm. Cover with your favorite meringue or top with whipped cream.

Cocoanut Custard Pie

Ingredients: ½ recipe pie crust, 3 eggs, slightly beaten, ½ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 3 cups milk scalded, 1 cup shredded cocoanut.

Line pie plate with pastry, rolled ½ inch thick, allowing pastry to extend 1 inch beyond edges. Fit loosely on plate. Fold edge back to form standing rim and flute with fingers. Combine eggs, sugar and salt; add milk gradually, then add cocoanut, and mix thoroughly. Pour into pie shell. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) 20 minutes, then decrease heat to moderate (350° F.) and bake 15 minutes longer. Cool.

Peach Pie Glaze

Ingredients: 1 package orange-flavored gelatine, 1½ cups warm peach juice and water, 2½ cups canned sliced peaches, 1 baked 9-inch pie shell.

Dissolve gelatine in warm peach juice and water. Add peaches. Chill. When slightly thickened, turn into cold pie shell. Chill until firm. Serve with whipped cream.

Try These Short Cuts

The children will eat more fruit if it is served with the meal, in a salad course or as dessert.

A Roquefort cheese dressing is made by adding gradually to French dressing two tablespoons of Roquefort cheese which has been rubbed to a cream. Blend until smooth.

The juice of a lemon in a glass of cold or warm water immediately upon arising each morning is a bracing drink that clears the taste and sharpens the appetite.

Acid eats enamel, leaving a rough surface. If lemon juice is left standing on enamel, the lemon will disfigure it.

If you like a puffy omelet, add a few bread crumbs to the milk before it is combined with the eggs.

Doors and woodwork that are well painted all over, front and back, to seal the pores of the wood, will not swell or shrink as readily as wood which has not been treated in this careful and protective manner.

When washing greasy dishes, remember that ammonia cuts grease and do not struggle to get them clean with hot water and soap alone. Add a few drops of ammonia to the dish-water.

A simple, yet delicious refreshment for bridge or tea consists of nut bread cut in thin slices, spread lightly with butter, put together with orange marmalade and cut into fancy shapes.

Coarse granulated sugar, now sold in colors, may be used for decorating tea cakes.

Hints for Homemakers

By Jane Rogers

A FAVORITE brand of grape jelly has recently made its appearance in an attractive thin clear glass tumbler with grape cluster design. The fact that the tumbler can be used for table and beverage use after the jelly is eaten, gives it a definite appeal to the housewife. The closure, which is easily removed with hook or bottle opener, has also proved a popular feature of this new package.

The freshness and flavor of the grape jelly are protected by a unique sealing process, which hermetically seals out their worst enemy—air. This sealing process technically known as vapor-vacuum sealing, is a nationally famous process and is being adopted by many leading food manufacturers.

Apples Take To Taffy

Taffy apples are childhood's town autumn tradition. These little girls are being introduced into the solemn rite of dipping apples into sweet, chewy caramel syrup. Jonathan and Delicious apples, varieties known throughout the world as the perfect eating apples, are ideal for this purpose. The best of the season's crop from Washington state are now on the markets. The following recipe for taffy apples will coat six large apples:

1 cup granulated sugar ½ cup boiling water
1 cup brown sugar 2 tablespoons butter
½ cup evaporated milk or cream 6 Jonathan apples
6 wooden skewers

Melt one-half cup of the granulated sugar over a direct flame. Add the boiling water and cook to a smooth syrup. In a separate pan cook the milk or cream with remaining sugar and butter to the soft ball stage or to 236°. Combine the two syrups and cook until drops of syrup will form a hard ball in cold water or to a temperature of 250°. Cool the syrup to lukewarm. Place apples on skewers and twirl them in the caramel syrup. Dip them immediately in ice water to harden the caramel.

MODES AND MANNERS

Q.—How should I introduce my future daughter-in-law to my friends?

A.—Say, "Mr. Smith, this is Eva Shaw, Ronald's fiancée." Or, "Mr. Smith, do you know (or have you met) Eva Shaw, Ronald's fiancée?"

Q.—When radishes or olives are served, how should they be taken?

A.—With the fingers. One or two may be taken at a time.

Q.—My friend says that it is not proper to serve bread or butter at formal dinners. What do you say?

A.—Your friend is right.

Q.—What kind of a hat is correct for a man wearing a dinner suit?

A.—A soft felt hat.

Q.—A friend tells me that the hostess should be served first. Is this correct?

A.—This custom harks back to medieval times, when the host was served first as proof to the guest that the food was not poisoned. But times have changed. The modern host or hostess no longer has such fears and defers to his guests by serving them first. The guest of honor is always served before the others, then those to his or her right.

Q.—Please make a list of foods which may be eaten with the fingers.

A.—Radishes, olives, celery, dry cakes and cookies, bon-bons, corn on cob, artichokes. Among fruits are grapes, peaches, plums, oranges and apples.

Roast Pork and How It Is Prepared

4 pounds of pork loin roast
½ teaspoon salt
12 prunes
¼ cup thinly sliced apples
¼ cup celery
1/16 teaspoon salt
1/16 teaspoon nutmeg
1 tablespoon fat
6 apricot halves
6 green pepper rings
Parsley

Method: Form pocket in roast by cutting three-quarters through meat between ribs and outer edge. Rub inside and out with salt. Cook prunes ten minutes in enough water to cover, drain and cut half of them in small pieces. Combine with apples, celery, salt and nutmeg, saute in fat five minutes. Fill pocket. Sew or skewer edges together. Roast in a moderate oven (350° F.) two hours, or thirty minutes to the pound. Garnish with remaining prunes stuffed with apricots and arranged green pepper rings. Parsley adds to the garnish its own freshness and should be served atop each slice. Serves six.

LAKE VILLA SCHOOL NEWS

Upper Room

The pupils of the school have come back from their two weeks vacation not very anxious to go to work again.

Wednesday, January 5, the pupils in the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades went on a skating party at Wagner's pond. Everybody had to bring their own skates, which consisted of hot dogs and buns, and we all had a swell time. The party ended at about nine o'clock.

Smoke Descends SlowlyThough Denser Than Air

Smoke consists of myriads of small solid particles suspended in the air. These particles are denser than air, yet they settle only with extreme slowness because of two facts, writes Dr. Thomas M. Beck in the Chicago Tribune.

A falling body soon reaches a speed at which its weight is balanced by the air resistance opposing its motion. This resistance is roughly proportional to the amount of surface exposed, and the smaller the body, the greater the ratio of surface to weight and the slower its rate of fall through the air.

Smoke particles usually are so small that their rates of fall hardly are perceptible. In addition, the particles' motion through the air causes them to pick up electrical charges, and the mutual repulsion of these charges prevents the particles from coalescing into larger particles which would fall more quickly.

It is a surprising fact that these smoke particles are much harder to remove from the air than are the far smaller molecules of a gaseous impurity. Air can be freed from foreign gases by bubbling it through the right kind of absorbing liquid or by passing it through a loosely packed mass of a porous solid absorbent. These methods frequently fail with smokes.

The reason for this difference lies in the fact that the small, light gas molecules are in a state of constant motion, and travel at incredible speeds which quickly bring them into contact with the absorbing material. On the other hand the far heavier smoke particles drift very slowly through the rest of the gas, and only a few of them have time to reach the absorbent.

All Plants Depend UponLeaves to Produce Food

Plant leaves form a direct link between nature's storehouses of food elements and the food requirements of plant and animal life. All animals are dependent on plants either directly or indirectly for their food, and plants depend upon their leaves to make food out of raw materials.

Plants make many uses of the products they manufacture, the uses varying greatly with the kind of plant. The foods may be made into wood, gums, resins, flowers, fruits, or seeds. They may be stored away as starches or sugars to serve some future need of the plant or to be used in the growth of new plants.

Ten chemical elements are required by plants in this process, notes a writer in the Chicago Tribune. They are carbon, oxygen, hydrogen, nitrogen, calcium, sulphur, iron, potassium, phosphorus, and magnesium. A few others usually are found, but most plants seem to grow without them. Nature makes ample provision for the two that come from the air—carbon and oxygen. Soils often are deficient in nitrogen, phosphorus, and potassium and sometimes calcium and sulphur. These are added to the soil in fertilizers.

War Photography in 1847

Contrary to general knowledge, Matthew Brady, famous photographer of the Civil war, was not the first man to make war pictures, but the credit in this regard really belongs to an unsung and unknown hero (or heroes) who took pictures of the Mexican war in 1847. The pictures were taken by the daguerreotype process and show American cavalrymen under General John Ellis Wool and a group of American infantry from a Virginia regiment on the Calle Real, a road through Mexico. The group, which includes scenes other than those of the Mexican war, comprises twelve daguerreotypes and belongs to the Yonkers (N. Y.) Museum of Science and Art.—Scientific American.

Macaroni Process a Secret

Naples was the center of macaroni manufacture for so many years that the Pompetan road leading into it was broken to bits by the continuous procession of wagons and trucks hauling in hard wheat and flour, says "The European Cookbook for American Homes." The process for making macaroni was kept secret until the Fourteenth century, when a Frenchman got hold of it and took it back to France with him.

Cockney, Dialect Used in London

Cockney is a dialect used in London. In cockney pronunciation, "dally" becomes "dyly," "about" sounds like "abah!" and "thing" is "fing!" The word, cockney, comes from coken-ey, middle English for cock's egg—a small, malformed, yolkless egg supposed to have been laid by a cock. The word next was applied to "spoiled" boys and girls, later to city "sissies," and still later to all Londoners and the way they talk.

Doulton Ware

Doulton ware was non-existent in the early years of the Nineteenth century. The pottery works were established by John Doulton at Vauxhall in 1815. It was afterward carried on by Doulton and Watts, who some years later transferred to High street, Lambeth, England. The application of art to pottery by the Doulton company began in 1870, and during succeeding years this was gradual perfected.

Sugar Used as Medicine

Sugar at one time was rare and costly — and was used exclusively as a medicine (when first brought to Europe from India, at about the time of the Crusades, 1098-1271). Sugar has various pharmaceutical uses today — briefly, to render oils miscible with water; to disguise the taste of medicine; to give preparations consistency.

CASTOR OIL, wiped over the outside of the windshield to form an even film, will help to keep the windshield free of ice during winter storms.

When a hand lever spark control is provided, the process of warming up the engine can be accelerated by running it on a retarded spark for a short time. Do not race the engine to warm it. Racing the engine is always bad, but worst of all when it is cold.

If a flap-type cover is used for the winter front of the radiator, it should leave the lower half of the radiator face covered, when the cover is half open. The lower part of the radiator carries the cold water. Especially in the thermo-siphon system, there is danger of freezing at this point even if the upper part of the radiator is warm.

Beads, Gunpowder, Skins, Indians' "Legal Tender"

Wampus or "legal tender" among the Indians was beadwork. It was of two kinds, white and black. The white was made from conch or periwinkle shells, and the black, which was really more purple in color, was made from the hard-shell clams. The chief center for their "manufacture" was Long Island, notes a writer in the Philadelphia Inquirer. The shells were broken into pieces, rubbed on stones until smooth and perhaps a little thicker than the United States silver dollar. The accepted length was three-sixteenths of an inch. Often they were pierced with a drill of some sort. They were strung on strips of deer leather, sometimes made into belts. One large war belt is said to have consisted of 12,000 beads of wampus.

For a time in the early days of this country gunpowder was considered legal tender. Gunpowder values were reckoned by the handful and the Indians with the biggest hands were employed to do the bargaining. Later on, beaver skins were used as well as tobacco, lumber and wheat.

Costa Rica Most Flowery

Plants of the little country with more varied vegetation than any area of its size in America—a country with about 6,000 varieties of flowering shrubs and trees, including more than 1,000 different kinds of orchids—are described in "Flora of Costa Rica," published by Field Museum Press. No other area of its size in North or Central America has a flora so rich and varied as Costa Rica. In area, the country is about the size of West Virginia, but its flowers and plants are about three times as numerous as those of that state. Few tropical countries anywhere in the world can rival Costa Rica in the variety of its orchids and ferns.

That the payment of all relief funds be made direct to the respective county treasurers, on the basis of per capita of those on relief, and that the county treasurers be authorized to distribute such allocations to the various townships according to the number of persons on relief in such townships.
4. That the township supervisors in counties under township organization and county commissioners under commission form, be responsible for the final distribution of such relief funds.
5. That no county or township be required to make any specified levy in order to receive its per capita (on relief) share of refund from sales tax and utilities tax.
6. That the retailers occupation tax be amended so as to eliminate, as far as possible the necessity of a township levy for pauper relief.
7. That relief clients be certified immediately upon application to work projects, and not be compelled to await the present required 30 days.
8. That the cost of administration be permanently fixed, to not exceed 8 per cent.

Hits Aliens

9. Since all aliens are now ineligible for work on WPA, CCC, NYA, or to have relief from old age assistance, aliens who do not appreciate our country—the protection afforded them through our police and fire organizations, our free schools and all our American institutions, sufficiently to become naturalized citizens—such aliens who have resided in the United States for a sufficient time to become naturalized, should be compelled to apply to their consul, and receive relief from the government to which they still hold full allegiance.

10. That the administration of all old age assistance be made through the respective supervisors, wherein such clients reside.

11. That the matter of revising existing relief legislation, and all regulations affecting the administration of relief, be included in the call for special session of the legislature, if and when called.

12. That copies of this resolution be sent to the Hon. Gov. Henry Horner, our senator and representatives from this district, to each and every county board in downstate counties, with request that it be read and acted upon at their next regular meeting.

Sponsor Golden Glove Tournament in Kenosha

Lake County Boys Eligible for Amateur Bouts Next Month

Kenosha, Wis., (Special)—Sponsored by the Kenosha Evening News, the third annual southeastern Wisconsin Golden Glove amateur boxing tournament will be conducted at the Eagles' Club here with tentative elimination dates set for Feb. 14 and 15, and the finals Feb. 21. Official sanction of these dates is expected shortly from the Wisconsin State boxing commission.

The tournament will again be held in two divisions with experienced amateurs in one group and beginners, whose who have not had more than three fights, in the novice bracket. There is no charge for entering but each boy must have an A. A. U. card which is obtainable for twenty-five cents and good for one year.

Bouts in both divisions will be in the following weights: 112, 118, 126, 135, 147, 160, 175, and heavyweight. Winners in the amateur division will be taken to Chicago with all expenses paid to compete in the Tournament of Champions at the stadium. They will also be presented with sport jackets and miniature golden gloves. Novice champions will be awarded silver amateur gloves. A trophy will be given to the club scoring the most points during the three-day fistic classic.

Athletes in the First Congressional district including the counties of Kenosha, Racine, Walworth, Green and Rock, in Wisconsin, and Lake and Illinois, are eligible to compete. Entries should be mailed now to Eddie McKenna, sports editor of the News, stating the division and weight contestant desires to compete.

Time Affects Ancient Pyramids

Of the seven wonders of the ancient world, the pyramids of Egypt alone have defied time and the destructiveness of conquering armies. There is probably no other man-made structure in existence that will outlive these sanctuaries of the Pharaohs which were built by master engineers. The largest pyramid, Khufu or Cheops, contains 2,300,000 blocks of stone, each weighing about 2½ tons. Originally it was 481 feet high, but due to age and long exposure to the elements its height has been cut to about 450 feet.

Cochin China Rich Men Number Wives by Dozen

In Cochin China marriage rites are comparatively simple, except in the case of the Catholic Annamites, who have abandoned the old rituals for the marriage performed by priests.

Cochin China has first and second degree marriages, and mandarins may have up to 100 wives if they are rich enough. In fact, writes Alex Small, Paris correspondent in the Chicago Tribune, polygamy is honored and unless he has many wives a mandarin may be considered to lack prestige—or money.

There can be only one first-rank wife at a time, but second rankers may take first rank if the first wife dies or is divorced, and each moves up one rank to the top places.

In some quarters of Cochin China under judiciary regime, marriage must be performed by officers of the civil state; and Christians there have only one wife.

Among wealthy mandarins, only first-rank wives live with their husbands, the second rankers being housed separately and can be visited by such husbands only during the daytime.

Action of Heat

The amount of heat required to melt ice would raise the temperature of an equal amount of water to 80 degrees centigrade.

Peas, Oldest Vegetable

Peas are the oldest known vegetables. They are believed to have originated in Ethiopia, but to have spread over Europe and Asia long before the dawn of history. They were eaten, and perhaps even cultivated after a fashion, by men of the New Stone age in Europe. Columbus planted some in the West Indies in 1493. They spread rapidly among the Indians. They constituted one of the chief crops of the Iroquois which were destroyed by General Sullivan in the campaign of 1779.

No Float, No Husband

The girls of a village in the Vosges mountains determine their matrimonial future by throwing pins into St. Sabine's fountain, according to an authority who reports that if the pin defies gravity by floating, its tosser believes that she will marry soon. If, on the other hand, it sinks, the young lady in question knows she will not be married for at least a year. Various strategies are used to keep the pins afloat, but only about a tenth of them remain on the surface of the fountain.

Cranberry, "Craneberry"

Cranberry is the Anglo-Saxon form of "craneberry," and refers to the fact that at blossoming time the stem of the dwarf shrub is fancied to resemble the neck, head and bill of the bird known as the crane.

Dickens' Visits to United States

Dickens came to the United States in 1842. The result of this journey is to be found in "American Notes," published in 1842. His second tour of the United States began late in November, 1867, and lasted until the middle of April, 1868. During that time he took in as a result of his readings a sum approximating $100,000. During his second tour he tried to correct his impressions of America and publicly acknowledged his change of feelings at a farewell dinner (which cost $40 a plate).

Needle-Shedding Conifers

The larch is the only tree in the North, and the cypress the only tree in the South among our native conifers which drop all of their needles each year. Most conifers lose only a fractional part of their needles during the fall season. Brown coloration and falling off of the white pine needles on last year's twigs is a well known example of this partial defoliation by natural habit. The larches produce an entirely new supply of bright green needles each spring.

Russians Established Fort Ross

The Russian chapel at Fort Ross, Calif., is a unique remnant of the meager colonization in North America south of Alaska. Fort Ross was established by Russian colonists who came from Alaska in 1812.
